Note in the three verses that precede our lesson (vv. 1-3) that David moved forward only after prayer and divine guidance. Little wonder that he succeeded.

I. The Southern Tribes Declare Their Loyalty (2:4).

The nation was divided into two parts, Judah in the south and Israel in the north. To bring them together again called for consummate skill. David had it.

When Saul had died, David showed his respect and genuine loyalty to the king by his actions and by his song of lament which we find in II Samuel 1. Then by the Lord's leading he went to Hebron, the national a capital of the people.

Their declaration for David was not long in coming. They knew and respected him. He had shown himself to be their friend (I Sam. 30:26) and now, they made him king. It is down to the same iness. Miss Elizabeth Fleming, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and entered first wearing an afternoon dress of pale yellow creps and black accessories. Her flowers were a shoulder corsage of rosebuds in a harmonizing shade of yellow.

The bride with her father, J. C. Fleming, entered from a stairway leading into the living room and was met at the altar by the groom, attended by his father, Dana B. Perdue, as best man. She wore for her wedding an attractive early fall costume of light blue crepe trimmed with lowing veil and other accessories of purple. Her flowers were in black and she carried by Miss Carolyn English with the veil of the people.
